

HOST CONTROL FOR A VARIETY OF TOOLS IN SEMICONDUCTOR FABRS

Abstract

A software module for use within an integrated circuit fabrication facility sends commands to a tool according to a method that operates with any tool that satisfies SEMI standards to add or subtract steps in a process without reprogramming or recompiling. The program operates autonomously to change parameters of commands that it sends to the tool to improve performance of the fab.